Press Release

Storm Properties Proceeds with Glukhovo Master Plan Concept

Storm Properties informs on completion of the tender for master planning of the Glukhovo residential development. We are pleased to announce that AECOM international architectural company was selected to work on the master planning concept.

Project concept is aimed to provide a modern European residential benchmark in the area for middle class of population for affordable prices. This development presents a healthy lifestyle created within an exclusive resort, integrated within picturesque and secure countryside setting, all with convenient urban amenities on its doorstep and providing contemporary family accommodation. The project will locate a rich variety of highly attractive residential units all focused on high quality public and private spaces that engage the residents with the surrounding natural landscape.

“Involvement of AECOM is a unique possibility to bring into the project a world class expertise and local knowledge. AECOM’s vast experience in masterplanning and urban design will help us to implement our ideas and create an exceptional product in the residential segment.” – noted Mikhail Kurnev, CEO of Storm Properties.

Andy Snow of AECOM’s Design + Planning business in Moscow, adds:

“We are delighted to be appointed as masterplanners by Storm Properties on its Glukhovo project. Within a short distance from Moscow, Glukhovo will be a residential development that offers a great family environment, with quality accommodations, a scenic woodland setting and a relaxing, healthy and contemporary lifestyle. We now look forward to combining AECOM’s global expertise with our local knowledge to support Storm Properties’ ambition to bring a new concept to the Moscow real estate market.”
